

Public meeting focus on use of oilfield sand

By Dean Kelly
Staff Writer

The Alberta Energy and Utilities Board (EUB) told county residents that at this point they do not see the use of produced oil field sand in road bed construction as dangerous, but have ordered a halt to the practice until it can be reviewed further.

Over 50 county residents attended a public meeting at Ferguson Flats Hall, located northeast of Elk Point, looking for answers to whether or not the use of produced oil-field sand in road bed construction is dangerous.

"We don't believe the sand is toxic," said Jim Dilay, EUB member and the moderator of Tuesday's meeting.

The meeting was set up by Murphy Oil and Elan Energy, but both companies decided not to attend the meeting.

The EUB decided to attend the meeting to "exchange information" as Dilay stated in his opening remarks to the audience.

About 40 country residents signed a petition which stated, "we express the concern that the area is being used as a disposal site for untreated oil-field waste."

As Lindbergh area resident Ivan Peterson said "we're concerned about county roads being used as a dumping ground."

Although the EUB maintains there is nothing toxic in the oil-field waste that was being used in some county roads, it still plans to examine concerns about the process and obtain public input on the matter.

County Reeve Ray Danyluk

also fielded question on the County of St. Paul's role in the process.

The question came up of why did the county take the waste and why are the oil companies not responsible for the clean-up of their own waste?

According to Danyluk the road known as Murphy road needed to be rebuilt to sustain the oil-field traffic that would travel on it.

"We don't believe the sand is toxic"

- Jim Dilay, EUB

A provincial government grant would only cover about 80 per cent of the total cost of construction and the county doesn't have the funds to cover the needed amount.

The oil companies asked the county if the sand could be used in the construction process.

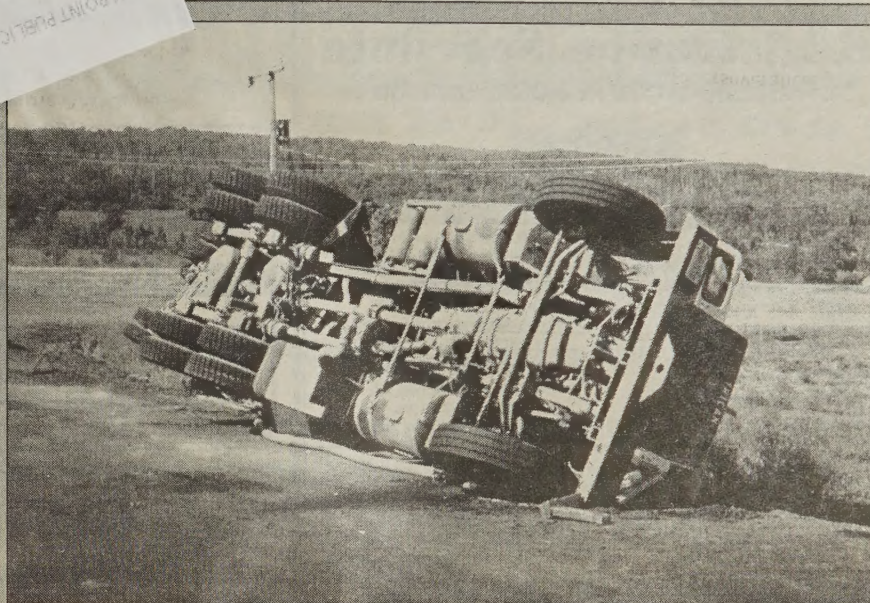

"We said 'yes' as long as it meet the criteria of engineers. We felt this was the safest direction to go," said Danyluk.

The County hired Torchinsky Engineering Ltd., who are consulting engineers, to determine whether or not the practice is safe.

In information provided by Torchinsky Engineering, it states, "based on our experience to date and the performance of the roads constructed with produced sand, it is our opinion that produced sand is an acceptable embankment material in roadway construction and is environmentally sustainable."

It also states, "Currently there is no clear guidelines in the Province of Alberta regarding disposal of produced sand on municipal roads. However, Saskatchewan Energy and Mines offer additional guidance to this procedure."

CONCERNS ABOUT ROAD SAFETY were heightened when this oilfield cement truck rolled over on the hill heading northeast from Lindbergh just hours before the meeting. Oilfield development in the area has brought considerable increases in traffic to the Lindbergh and Ferguson Flats areas in recent months. Photo by Donna Ockerman.

Countdown to the Fair! Bench show moves to its new location

By Irene Magnusson
Review Contributor

And suddenly — it's here! You have until Friday, August 15 at 12:00 noon, to get your entries and exhibits into shape, labeled and down to the show room of the A. G. Ross Arena — actually, you have until 3:30 p.m. of that day, when acceptance of entries will cease.

Inside your Fair Book, 1997, (which you have surely picked up long ago!) are entry forms, where exhibitors are to write in the Section, Class and Name of Article, and together with a $1.00 entry fee per exhibitor, hand these in to the staff on hand.

Come back to the Arena between 2:00 and 7:00 p.m. on Saturday, August 16, to view ALL the exhibits, and hopefully, pick up all the prizes your entries have won!

Most entries will have been finished and ready long since, but there are a few which really require last minute attention, such as the flowers, fruits and vegetables. I always look forward to viewing the Fair entries! Such talent! Such imagination! Such perseverance!

Best wishes to all of you who are competing in the Annual Elk Point Fair!

Oilmen present their 14th annual golf tournament this weekend

Oilmen will hang up their hard hats and coveralls this weekend and change their steel-toed safety boots for golf shoes, as they congregate at the Elk Point Golf and Country Club for the 14th Annual Elk Point Oilmen's Golf Tournament.

A total of 136 golfers are signed up to play in seventeen flights at the two day tournament, up from fifteen flights last year. The tournament has been a highlight of the summer in Elk Point each year since 1984.

The weekend includes a banquet and social on Saturday night and the presentation of trophies and prizes on Sunday. Four sponsors are lined up with extra special awards in case a winner for the elusive Hole-in-One award is found.

Welcome, golfers! Enjoy your weekend!

Celebrating Canada, our home

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

The Elk Point Canada Day Committee held its evaluation meeting recently, and we all agreed that for the most part, the Elk Point Canada Day celebrations turned out really well this year. We have so much to be thankful for by living in this beautiful, free country of Canada. It is nice to be able to take time to celebrate.

The respect for and a feeling of importance of our home country was something I learned in my youth. I remember when Canada celebrated its 100th birthday. My parents "got on the bandwagon" and built something in their yard to acknowledge this important birthday for Canada. They built a rock garden with a fountain in the middle of it. I remember coming home from University for the summer and I felt really proud of what my parents were doing. They even let me put some special rocks in the garden so I could be a part of their project. You see, I had been away at university in the United States and feelings of how important my home country of Canada was, were becoming prioritized in my life. It is the old story, one doesn't really appreciate their home until they have been away from it for a while.

Since 1967, I realize, however, that some people in Canada want to leave. Some of our politicians have picked up on this and have turned it into an issue. There have been many debates and books written about this issue. There is a saying, "No one can reach everybody, but everybody can be reached by somebody." I just think that, as my parents instilled in me a respect and love for Canada, I can do the same for my children. Likewise, as we celebrate Canada Day in Elk Point, we are helping the people in Elk Point acknowledge what they have by living in our home country of Canada.

As members of the Elk Point Canada Day Committee we would like to acknowledge all the people, clubs and organizations, levels of government and companies who have financially supported the Elk Point Canada Day Celebrations. We say a big thank you to all of you. Thank you for helping us to celebrate our great country of Canada — after all, it is our home!

The following list includes the names of our financial supporters: E-Can Oilfield

Services, Elk Point Lioness Club, Tarsands Steam Cleaning, Pan Canadian Petroleum, Elk Point Royal Canadian Legion #151, Elk Point Historical Society, the

Canadian Salt Company Ltd., Town of Elk Point, Elan Energy Inc., Shamrock Valley Enterprises Ltd., County of St. Paul, Doug Bassett/ B & R Eckels, Government of Canada, Norcen Energy Resources, A & J Oilfield Services Ltd., and Elk Point & District Lions Club. Again, a GREAT BIG THANK YOU, everyone!

Elk Point Fair marks its 85th anniversary

This weekend, we celebrate a proud heritage in Elk Point, as the Elk Point and District Agricultural Society presents their 1997 Agricultural Fair.

The first Elk Point Fair was held no less than 85 years ago, when residents of this fledgling pioneer community first got together to display their finest produce and livestock, as well as the housekeeping arts of baking, preserving and sewing.

Can you imagine what a great event this was for a very young settlement? No doubt everyone turned out to exhibit their best, and to view the accomplishments of their neighbors.

We don't know where this first fair was held, but wherever that was, it would have meant hours of planning and preparation for the organizers, as well as by the exhibitors.

The tradition of holding an Elk Point Fair has continued through the decades, growing and modifying with the community and its interests.

In the last 20 years, the Fair has moved from the A. G. Ross Arena to the Elks Hall to the Seniors Recreation Centre. This year it's moving back to the arena, where there is even more room to display the entries at one of the best bench fairs in the area.

Make sure you check out the 85th anniversary Elk Point Fair this weekend. Exhibits will be entered from noon to 3:30 p.m. on Friday, and public viewing is scheduled for 2:00 to 7:00 p.m. on Saturday.

See you at the Fair!

Even his car doesn't smoke

Dr. Simon T. Bryant, who was in town recently looking after Dr. Sandy Koe's practice, is not your average locum physician. For one thing, he comes to town in a station wagon topped with an enormous cigarette labeled "Know Smoking."

That is the title of Dr. Bryant's book, subtitled "The whole truth about smoking and quitting." An imaginative story peppered with entertaining cartoons explains why nicotine is addictive, the benefits of quitting, correct use of nicotine replacement and how children are affected, and teaches how to live smoke free while controlling weight and satisfying cravings.

A family physician and university lecturer, Dr. Bryant is on the Board of Directors of Physicians For a Smoke-Free Canada. He has visited a number of towns to take over for holi-daying physicians, and has promoted his "info-novel" along the way.

DOES THAT CAR SMOKE? No, and nor does its owner, Dr. Simon T. Bryant, locum physician and author of "Know Smoking."

TIC Talk

Top ten questions of the summer of '97

By Sherry Pelech
Tourist Information Clerk

As we were saying last week, our purpose at the TIC (Tourist Information Centre) is to answer questions. Here is our list of Top Ten Questions.

10. If the whole point of that really annoying Noxema commercial is that "Noxema girls get noticed," how come that guy doesn't notice he is talking to a skinny bald man?

9. Which is worse, the annoying Noxema commercial or the Cover Girl commercial where models who have had a team of ten makeup artists and a Special FX guy working on them all day tell us they want makeup that takes "five minutes"?

8. Do the commercial people think we are stupid?

7. How heavy does the traffic around here have to get before someone decides we need to have lights installed at the intersection of 48 Street (Highway 41) and 50 Avenue?

6. Would lights make the big trucks at least slow down?

5. Now that we have had three really hot days in a row, are we to conclude that summer is over?

4. If we all knew what 'the best kept secret of the Lakeland' was, would it still be the best kept secret?

3. We see dozens of loads of big, round bales going south and we see dozens of loads of big, round bales going north, so how come these people can't work out some kind of Free Trade Deal and save themselves a lot of road trips?

2. Now that the mosquitoes of July have been replaced by the sticky flies of August, are we supposed to be happy?

And the number ONE question of the 1997 Tourist Season is:

You didn't really think that the Top Ten list had anything at all to do with Tourism, did you?

Report from the Legislature

Assisting Alberta's children and families through Early Intervention programs

By Paul Langevin, MLA
LacLaBiche - St. Paul

The Alberta government has recently announced a $6.6 million investment in Early Intervention programs. This funding will provide for an additional 67 programs across the province, bringing the total number of programs to 211 since the $50 million program began in 1995.

Early Intervention programs are community-based services, which address issues such as school attendance and performance, family violence, literacy, and parenting skills. These services are focused upon helping children and families in a proactive way, before serious problems arise. They are future-oriented programs, the benefits of which include strengthening life skills and reducing the need for crisis intervention into the lives of children and families.

Early Intervention programs are part of Alberta's Redesign of Services for Children and Families. Communities across Alberta are planning and designing children's services to become more integrated, and more helpful, for their local children and families.

Our government had for some time recognized the need to change the way children's services are provided. This recognition resulted in the current planning of a new community based system of support for children and families.

After extensive consultations in 1994 with over 3,300 Albertans, a new vision emerged for providing services for children and families. It includes establishing services that are more effective, efficient and community based, developing support networks at a local level, involving families, community members and professionals, and improving services for Aboriginal people.

Services are guided by their focus on the safety, well-being and healthy development of children, and strengthening the skills and ability of families to help themselves. Early Intervention programs are an important part of this vision.

If you have any questions relating to Early Intervention programs or would like to discuss any other issue, I can be reached at my constituency office in St. Paul at 645-6999.

GOOD LUCK to Golfers in this 14th Annual Oilmen's Golf Tournament.

From Provincials: a little piece of gold

By Doug Bassett
Elk Point Minor Ball

O.K., I know, two weeks ago I reported that the White Sox were going to the big show! And it was true, they were going. So what happened? Here's the story.

Two days before the main event in Consort the Sox manager got a phone call from Baseball Alberta saying that they had made a terrible mistake and that Clyde had one more win than the Sox and would be competing for the gold in the provincial finals. They got the gold mine, we got the shaft! O.K., maybe it does sound a bit like sour grapes, and maybe it was a long shot for the Sox, but how can two teams that the Sox had beaten easily in round robin play get to the finals? How? Because other teams failed to show up for round robins, that's how. Clyde and Edmonton won two games each by default, giving them a higher win percentage. They played less games than the Sox, and actually won less games, but the defaulted games count as wins. And then there's Armena, a team that had it easy, never playing any real competition in round robin, like Acme, Strome, Consort or Legal, and they get in? All three of these teams, Clyde, Edmonton and Armena were embarrassed in the provincial final, losing games big scores. So go figure?

What a disappointment for the White Sox boys, who committed their time, spending three weeks of competing in provincial round robins, and just when they were practicing and packing for the final, they are told they can't go. And only two days before the show! Somehow knowing that they had a better team than three of the teams in the final is what hurt the boys the most.

There was one small consolation, however, when two of the boys were picked up in the draft. Each team competing in the provincial final is allowed to pick up two players from the other teams not playing in the finals. Pitchers Tyler Warawa and Jordan Bassett were selected to play. Tyler Warawa, who had a great season hitting .532 was picked as the first player overall, going to Acme. Slugger Jordan (Buhner) Bassett, who led the Sox in home runs, was selected fourth overall going to Strome. Both players were drafted not only for their pitching abilities but also their track record at the plate, and as luck would have it they ended up in the same round robin pool.

Consort, the host, finished in first place in round robin, defeating Acme, Strome and Edmonton. Then after both Acme and Strome had lost to Consort and defeated Edmonton, second place came down to a do or die for the two Elk Point boys who got to play in a game against each other. Acme, who had the strongest bullpen, won a close one to knock off Strome, then went on to defeat Legal from the other pool in the semi-final, then met Consort again in the final, this time defeating them for their third straight provincial gold. So a little piece of the gold did come home to Elk Point, around Tyler Warawa's neck. Way to go, big #00.

What about next year? The experience Tyler and Jordan will bring back to the Sox next season will really help this young club. Also, there's only two of the Sox players, Denny Hudy and B.J. Tucker, too old to play in provincials next year.

Throw in some new players moving into town and a fine crop of bantams moving up, some of whom already played on this year's provincial team, and the boys will be stronger and this time we will all go to the show!

Mite Girls "Sparkle and Shine"

Sparkle and Shine, owned and operated by the Patrochs' of Elk Point, brightened up the team's dreary year end. The girls' year-end tournament was postponed due to rain and the team was unable to reschedule. Sparkle and Shine awarded each player with a participation medallion for their dedication and effort throughout the season. The players and coach were truly appreciative of the thoughtfulness and generosity of a local business. Brenda Bintz commented on the rewards of coaching in the community. She said that when the parents take the time to support their children at practices and games, as did each and every family on the team, it makes coaching a joy. Win or lose, they were there to have fun. It was a real honor to have a team from out of town compliment the players' and parents' sportsmanship and participation. It makes you proud of the people from our community.

Esso Imperial Oil

HAVE YOU HEARD?

Imperial Oil Resources Limited is proposing to construct the ThickSilver pipeline - a new heavy oil pipeline in Alberta between Hardisty and Cold Lake.

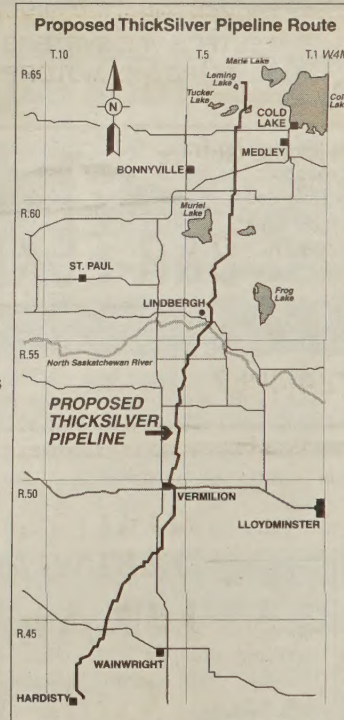

The ThickSilver Pipeline Project includes two pipelines - a 610 mm (24 inch) diameter line to transport blended bitumen from Cold Lake to Hardisty, and a 324 mm (12 inch) diameter line to transport lighter hydrocarbon liquids (diluent) from Hardisty to Cold Lake. The pipeline will run in the vicinity of Cold Lake, Lindbergh, Vermillion and Hardisty with the booster pump station located in the Lindbergh area.

YOUR INPUT IS AN IMPORTANT PART OF THE PROCESS

Prior to submitting our regulatory application, Imperial wants to hear and respond to your questions regarding our project. This will ensure we have the information that will allow us to consider public comments during development and operation of the pipeline.

WE'RE LOOKING FORWARD TO MEETING YOU

From August 18 to 21, 1997, we will be hosting open houses in the following locations and would be pleased if you could attend:

Town	Location	Date	Time
Hardisty	Hardisty Community Hall	August 18, '97	6:00 pm to 9:00 pm
Vermillion	Elk's Lodge	August 19, '97	6:00 pm to 9:00 pm
Elk Point	Senior's Recreation Centre	August 20, '97	6:00 pm to 9:00 pm
Cold Lake	Lakeland Inn	August 21, '97	6:00 pm to 9:00 pm

ALBERTA CONTAINER MANAGEMENT COMMITTEE

Have a safe summer:

Rowing together for safe boating

Edmonton - Every summer, Alberta boaters are involved in too many water-related injuries.

Alberta Environmental Protection is working with the Canadian Red Cross to promote safe boating in the province. Together they are working to reduce water-related injuries associated with poor boating practices.

Water-related fatalities are seldom the result of bad luck or fate, but rather result from combinations of risk factors. For example, many drownings are associated with alcohol consumption, the absence of a proper flotation device on the victim, or hypothermia caused by cold water.

Comprehensive studies of water-related fatalities are part of the Canadian Red Cross's strategic approach toward prevention of these tragedies. The Canadian Red Cross is able, through its various programs and community network, to reach boaters across Alberta. Water Safety Week, which this year was held June 1 - 7, is one way the Canadian Red Cross can focus attention on promoting safety around water.

Alberta Environmental Protection staff have a unique role to play in ensuring Albertans are safe on the water. Park rangers and wildlife officers in the Natural Resources Service enforce small vessel regulations as part of their duties, and since small recreational boats are the crafts most often involved in drowning incidents across Canada, their officers can help to reduce equipment-related risk factors.

In addition, Alberta Environmental Protection has taken the lead in the enforcement of the 10-30 rule that regulates boating activity. The 10-30 rule was first introduced in Alberta last year and requires boat operators to ensure that they go no faster than 10 kmh within 30 metres of the shore.

Over the boating season this year, Alberta Environmental Protection with the Canadian Red Cross will continue to identify and encourage safe boating practices and to enlist Albertans to help reduce water-related fatalities in our province.

Packing for a safe holiday

Anyone who has ever packed a car for a road trip knows that loading it properly lies somewhere between science and art. According to the Alberta Motor Association, the key to a pleasant vacation is careful planning and a lot of common sense. Consider the following tips provided by your AMA vacation experts.

Ensuring your vehicle handles the load

This is important to consider, especially when pulling a trailer. If you're not sure how much your car can handle, ask your auto technician or local car dealer for advice. Overloading can affect your car's handling, stability, and could damage your suspension.

Preparing your vehicle for the road ahead

The last thing you want on a vacation is a breakdown that could have been prevented. Think about:

* getting a tune-up, especially for long excursions

* making sure your brakes are in good working order — having that extra load in your trunk or trailer will demand more from your brakes

* checking your headlights for proper adjustment — the load in your trunk will cause the front end of your car to rise slightly and you don't want to blind oncoming drivers.

Loading up for the journey

The key tip is to plan your packing. Ensure items you and your passengers will need are easily accessible. Make sure that:

* the spare tire, jack and first aid kit are easy to reach

* kids' toys and travel games are not underneath your luggage

* items that could become dangerous are packed securely away — especially if you have to stop abruptly and they fly through the interior of the car

* the driver can clearly see out the windows and visibility is not limited.

Checking your list

Here are a few items you may want to add to your personal list. Make sure you have packed:

* the spare tire (properly inflated);

* an extra litre of oil;

What's news at the library?

Come in, cool off and check out our recent arrivals

By Michele Duczek
Librarian

All this hot weather the past week has fried my brain a little. I can't remember what day it is and I'm still writing July on everything. If you're feeling the heat, you might want to check out the library... We have air conditioning. You might also want to check out some of these recent arrivals:

When Stephanie Jardine's daughter is injured in an unexpected act of violence by a stranger, Stephanie must come to terms with a past relationship in The Power of a Woman by Barbara Taylor Bradford.

China embarks on an audacious military and geopolitical plan to immobilize the United States and it's up to a small band of civilian and military personnel to put a stop to it in Fatal Terrain by Dale Brown.

Graham Lord writes about veterinarian Alf Wright, known to millions of fans as James Herriot in James Herriot: Life of a Country Vet.

Smart Eating by Covert Bailey and Rhonda Gates contains useful tips, valuable advice and over 200 outstanding recipes to help get you eating smart.

Since 1988 Patrick Stewart has been performing his critically acclaimed one man adaptation of Charles Dickens classic A Christmas Carol and now you can hear for yourself what the fuss is all about.

For those wishing to learn a foreign language, Berlitz Basic Spanish may be just the ticket. This kit consists of three tapes and a book to introduce you to the language and get you started.

And for the younger set:

A month spent at their favorite summer camp doesn't turn out to be as great as expected in Summer Horse from the Saddle Club.

The last two weeks of camp should be fun but the girls are worried that the camp might not reopen next summer in Summer Rider, also from the Saddle Club.

Camille and Leon Lizardo need a little vacation so they check into the world-famous Hotel Animal but being very small, they don't quite fit in with the other guests in Hotel Animal by Keith Duquette.

Franklin wakes up grumpy and the day just gets worse in Franklin's Bad Day by Paulette Bourgeois and Brenda Clark.

OBITUARY

DROBOT, Gladys

On August 4, 1997 Mrs. Gladys Drobot of St. Paul passed away at the age of 61 years. She is survived by her loving husband, John; 2 daughters, Leanne (Jim) Vinge of Elk Point and Elena of St. Paul; 2 grandchildren, Kelsey and Brayden; and 2 brothers, Larry (Lillian) Demchuk of Elk Point and Len (Julie) Demchuk of St. Paul. She was predeceased by 1 son, Shane Michael Drobot; and her parents, Mike and Annie Demchuk.

A Memorial Service was held Friday, August 8 at 11:00 a.m. at the Elk Point Senior Citizens' Centre, Elk Point. Pastor Jim MacLellan officiated. Cremation has taken place. Donations to the Alberta Heart & Stroke Foundation are being gratefully accepted c/o Box 425, St. Paul, AB., T0A 3A0.

Yewchin's Funeral Chapel Ltd., St. Paul, 645-5177.

THANK YOU

ROSYCHUK

We, the family of the late John Rosychuk, wish to express our heartfelt thanks to everyone who helped in anyway during the passing of our Father, Grandfather and Great-Grandfather.

Thanks to Doctor Ramful and Staff of Parkview for their care.

Thanks to Caroline and John Yewchin for their helpfulness and to Reverend Sam Donaldson for his words of comfort.

Thanks for those who donated to the Community Church and Canadian Cancer Society. The many cards, flowers and food we received were much appreciated. At a time like this, it's a comfort to know that people care.

Fingerprints and clues READiscovered

By Karina Mitchell
READiscover Coordinator

Freeze! Hands up! You're under arrest! That's the exciting part of a law enforcer's job. But what happens next? Everyone knows you need evidence to convict. That where forensic science comes in. And Constable Doreen Wolff is on the job.

She was also at the library on Thursday, demonstrating and explaining her job in the Forensic Identification Section of our RCMP. We got to try out the tools of the trade, dusting for fingerprints with a special metallic powder and studying the loops, arches, and whorls that make up our fingerprints. We looked at actual evidence that led to criminal convictions and did a bit of our own police work, fitting together items found at a crime scene with a bumper that belonged to the suspect. Busted! The hands-on activities were great and we all really appreciated the time Constable Doreen Wolff took to show us forensic science. Thank you!

For the younger group, our suspects were a little closer to home. We all became detectives, searching the library for clues to find the book-thief. Mali the Dog turned out to be the culprit who took a book from the library without signing it out. After an apology and some redeeming volunteer work, Mali is once again in good standing with the library.

Tuesday's group also did some fingerprinting, of sorts. With a bit of paint, we made handprints to hang from a mobile. But not all the handprints made it to the mobile. It didn't take a forensic scientist to match the colorful prints with the painted hands (and shirts and faces)! But it was lots of fun and nothing a little soap and water couldn't handle.

Of course, if you had trouble reading the preceding line, it's because it's written in invisible ink, just one method we detectives use to keep the enemy at bay. With some lemon juice and a few Q-tips, our READiscover sleuths drew secret message pictures that could be made visible using a warm super-sleuth decoder iron.

With the help of a few spy books from the library, the ideas were endless and so was the fun!

Meeting focus on sand use

Both the County of St. Paul and the Municipal District of Bonnyville have been using the produced sand as a dust suppressant on road which suffer from heavy oil-field traffic.

Through the efforts of some Lindburgh area residents headed up by Peterson it was discovered this substance was being used in road bed construction.

The EUB suspended the practice after receiving the petition.

The oil-field sand used in road bed construction can only be .30 metres thick and is encapsulate in a minimum of .9 metres of clay.

In 1997 portions of two roads were constructed in St. Paul using the oil-field sand in the construction.

At the Koch Exploration Plant Site Back Road a 3.2 km. section was constructed with the oil-field material.

A 1.6 km, section of the Koch Exploration Plant Site Road was also constructed.

* a spare anti-freeze and water mixture:

* an extra jug of windshield washer fluid;

* the first aid kit;

* an emergency road kit;

* maps of the area.

Packing alternatives

Take the unnecessary frustration out of your vacation if you have a lot of stuff to pack. Consider the following options:

* renting or borrowing a small travel trailer if you have a lot of stuff to pack

* using a car-top carrier — but be careful around bends in the road and when taking sharp turns

* renting a larger vehicle for your trip if you own car just can't handle the family, the dog and all the luggage.

Just remember that loading the top of your vehicle or the trunk will alter the car's handling. But above all, do not pack in a rush. Pack well and enjoy the journey.
